

Bread, Milk, Egg Prices on the Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — Congress plans to investigate the higher prices you are paying for bread, butter, milk and eggs.

In the meantime, one New York City official urges housewives to use powdered milk and margarine instead of whole milk and butter.

A switch to medium-sized white eggs helps, too.

The Department of Agriculture has some good news for pinched pocketbooks. Meat prices should soon start to fall.

Beef is featured throughout much of the country.

Turkey and broiler-fryers remain good buys in many areas.

For many Americans, steak cheaper than fish.

Seafood is generally in short supply.

The sun continues to take its toll on vegetable growers. Most vegetables are higher.

But favorable California weather has sent loads of lettuce, onions, and carrots rolling into many supermarkets throughout the nation. Other buys are potatoes, sweet corn, and green and yellow squash.

Fruits appear to bask in the sun that shrivels the vegetables. Most fruits are lower this week.

Seedless grapes and nectarines are featured at many chains. A record crop of Bartlett pears should lower prices.

MRS. W. H. DAVIS

Mrs. W. H. Davis of 414 North Hervey celebrated her 85th birthday Sunday with a large dinner party on her lawn.

She was surprised with a beautiful three tiered birthday cake and received many lovely gifts.

She has six children, 18 grandchildren, and 27 great grandchildren, many attended the party.

Friends attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Lyberger and son, Welton of Little Rock.

Palance Is Injured in Car Mishap

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Jack Palance, behind the wheel of his foreign-made sedan, collided with another car at an intersection late Tuesday night, police report.

Officers said the actor may have suffered rib fractures. No one else was injured. Spokesmen at Queen of Angels Hospital, where Palance was taken, said the actor was in good condition.

Speedometer Turn-Back Is Illegal

BOSTON (AP) — Gov. John A. Volpe has signed a bill setting a $100 fine for turning back an automobile speedometer to misrepresent the number of miles on the vehicle.

Under the law, signed Tuesday, evidence that an automobile dealer had readjusted a speedometer would constitute evidence of intent to misrepresent.

MISS LOWE FETED

Miss Jeannie Lowe, bride-elect of Jim Reynolds of Camden, was honored with a luncheon Thursday, July 28 by Mrs. John B. Gardner, Jr., and Miss Ginny Gardner. Held in the Gardner home, the luncheon was attended by 12 who were seated at a table centered with an arrangement of daisies.

The honoree was attired in a tulle frock of pastel green trimmed with lace, and she pinned a daisy corsage at her shoulder.

The hostesses also presented her with a gift of silver.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Dan Reynolds, mother of the bridegroom - elect, and Mrs. O. E. Silver of Amarillo, Tex.

CHATTER

By: "Bill"

We would like to say "Thank you" to our 95 customers who came by to wish us a Happy 95th Anniversary on Monday.

It was OUR pleasure showing you the new and exciting things for fall and winter. We invite those who were unable to come Monday to drop in anytime and let us give you a Private Showing.

We are happy to announce the following winners of the 3 door prizes.

Mrs. Marie Holt won the 1st prize, which was an $18.00 Korset of California outfit.

Mrs. Bill Wray was 2nd prize winner of the Thermo-Jac dress. (I know Linda will enjoy wearing it.)

Mrs. Leta Sanders was the winner of Rubin's 6 button length cape skin gloves.

Congratulations!!! to the winners.

Now for the commercial—

The fall merchandise is coming in every day and the truth is, it is simply beautiful!

There is a new look for the young and new word in campus fashion this year. . . knit-ziphenia. We think it means . . . every one is crazy over knits! Knit jersey coats, baby-kne knits in heathery pastels, striped or plaid cotton knits, shetland knits, poor-girl and poor-boy knits. . . you name it and it is knitted! And of course the simple reason is they feel so good, they do not wrinkle, they fit like skin and they wear forever. . .

We invite you to see our knits, pants, skirts, sweaters, suits, dresses, sox, coats, and etc. The place is

AFRAID OF MARRIAGE

Dear Helen: I am engaged to a wonderful guy, but I'm afraid of marriage.

When I was 13, I ran away with an older boy, we lied about our age, and got married. I wouldn't have done it if I had come from a happy home.

A month after we were married he beat me up and made me lose the baby, and six months after that he ran off and I never saw him again.

I love this man I'm engaged to and want to make him happy but how can I, if I'm — Afraid

Dear Afraid: You may need professional help to overcome this fear, but you can help yourself a great deal if you'll realize that no one grows up completely free of bad experiences. Yours may seem the worst to you, but this is only because you dramatize it. What happened years ago should be discussed to worry about your looks or what to do with your excess hands and feet. — H.

Dear Helen: I have been going with a girl for two years, but she and I don't see each other any more because this summer she met a married man of 21 at work and now they sneak around together. He had to get married and she says he was trapped into it.

She asked me not to tell her parents or his wife so how can I wise up this 16-year-old nut that I love so much? — No Fink

Dear No Fink: Your 16-year-old nut had better wise up fast before her married friend lands both of them in trouble. She's jail bait!

"Finking" won't be necessary. This kind of news gets around quicker than you can say, "Home for unwed mothers." — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Gregorian Chants

Pope Gregory the Great had collections made of the music used in Catholic church services. These are still known as Gregorian chants.

CAN'T LIVE IT DOWN

Dear Helen: About two years ago I ran for a class office. I set up my campaign like a real politician's: maybe too well. I made up sheets that showed my views and platform, gave facts about myself, as adults do.

Now the guys and gals think I'm conceited. The guys still bug me, and the word keeps circulating.

Worst part about it is one girl I'd like to go out with almost won't even acknowledge my "hello." I'm pretty sure she thinks I'm a Narcissus.

I can't make a Time Machine and go back and change things, so how can I prove I'm not an — Egomaniac

Dear Ego: I'd make a wild guess you only THINK the kids remember, which makes you oversensitive, ill-at-ease and stand-offish, and these traits get you labeled "stuck-up."

Forget about that almost forgotten campaign and start a new one aimed at the girl you like. Incidentally, the telephone is a good way to create a new image — you lose a lot of self-consciousness when you don't have million bites by dogs, bats, cats, foxes and raccoons are reported every year. At least 30,000 of these victims receive rabies vaccine because the animal was believed to be rabid or could not be caught and examined. This points up the fact that, if you have a pet dog or cat, it should be vaccinated against rabies for the protection of the family and the community as well as for its own protection.

Whenever possible, an animal that has bitten someone should be captured alive and placed under observation to determine whether or not it has rabies. The most important part of the treatment is immediate first aid by cleansing the wound thoroughly with water and soap or a detergent followed by an antiseptic such as a one per cent solution of benzalkonium chloride. Use a syringe to force the soapy water to the full depth of the wound.

Every animal bite is not a reason to start a course of rabies prevention. If the animal bites because it was startled, teased or had been injured there is no reason to suspect rabies. Furthermore, animals that have been raised in pet shops, are very young, or live in areas that are known to be free of rabies are not likely to be rabid. Bites of chipmunks, gophers, squirrels, hamsters, moles and other rodents almost never cause rabies.

If, however, the animal that bit you is thought to be rabid, you should have an injection of antirabies horse serum within 24 hours of the bite. This is much less painful and troublesome than a course of rabies vaccine. It will give you immediate but not lasting protection. Because of the danger of serum sickness, your doctor will want to test you for sensitivity before he gives you the serum. Even if the test is negative you may get delayed serum sickness but an antihistamine will give prompt relief.

Persons whose risk of exposure is high, such as veterinarians and explorers of bat caves, should take a course of 14 daily injections of rabies vaccine. Finally, children should be taught to avoid petting stray animals or feeding squirrels by hand.

The raglan, a kind of loose overcoat with large sleeves, is named after a British field marshal, Lord Raglan, noted for wearing such a coat during the fiercely cold winter campaign he conducted as head of the British expeditionary forces in the Crimea in 1854. Earlier, in the Waterloo campaign in 1815, Raglan received a wound which caused the amputation of his right arm.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The smother play is just about the most unusual one in the expert's kit of plays. It is so unusual that most of the time a player with a chance to make it tries some other play instead.

There was nothing wrong with South's four heart contract that a little luck in trumps would not have taken care of. He ruffed the third spade lead and led the queen of hearts for a finesse. He continued with the jack after the queen held and was most unhappy when East showed out on that second trump lead.

He thought things over for a while and finally decided to try for an end play in diamonds. He cashed dummy's ace of trumps; ran off all the clubs and threw West in with the king of trumps.

West had to lead a diamond and South went up with dummy's jack. Unfortunately for South's plans East produced the queen and South had to lose a diamond trick.

South made the usual complaint about bad luck but he could and should have made the contract. Instead of cashing the ace of trumps he should have run off the clubs

If West trumped with the king dummy would overruff with the ace; if West trumped low dummy would discard.

Apart from success why was this play better than the one South tried? Because South also had given himself the chance to drop a doubleton queen of diamonds.

Boswell Runs Fights Last Night Win Streak to 7 Games

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer Dave Boswell's barnyard impressions still break up his teammates, but the Minnesota Twins' funny man is dead serious about his new act — impersonating Sandy Koufax.

Boswell fired a four-hitter against Boston Wednesday night for his seventh straight victory and added 10 strikeouts to his American League lead as the Twins battered the Red Sox 7-2. The 21-year-old pitching prodigy has been the AL's answer to Koufax, Los Angeles' fabulous left-hander, over the past two months — and he's actually been a couple of steps ahead of the Dodger ace in recent weeks.

Before June 1, however, Boswell's major contributions to the Twins were his hilarious imitations of the animal and bird kingdoms. "Come on, Boswell, feed the chickens for us," a teammate would command, and the young right-hander would protest in vain before dusting off his chicken-feeding routine.

His bird-calls were a big hit, too, and his squeaking barn door always was in demand, but the strapping Baltimore native was a troubled pitcher. He was the clubhouse comedian — and his won-lost record was 0-4.

"I don't want to go to good reputation," he said. "I'm going to be serious this year."

Then he went out and proved it. Since June 1 he has won 11 of 12 decisions. Koufax, 9-1 on June 1, has been 8-4 since then. Boswell has won his last six starts; Koufax has won two of his last six.

Sandy's earned run average of 1.64 is far superior to Boswell's 3.00 mark, but the Minnesota fireballer will take the victories any way he can get them.

"I want to win," he says. "I don't care if it's 9-0, 8-0 or 1-0." Boswell's 10 strikeouts against the Red Sox increased his season figure to 158. Koufax, with 210 strikeouts, is the only pitcher in the majors ahead of him.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, the New York Yankees ended a five-game tailspin by trimming California 9-0 on Mel Stottlemyre's two-hitter; the Cleveland Indians overcame five Baltimore homers for a 9-6 victory over the league leaders; Washington edged Kansas City 4-3 and Detroit split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning the opener 3-1 before bowing 6-3.

San Francisco walloped New York 11-1, Pittsburgh topped the Dodgers 5-1, Cincinnati beat St. Louis 3-1 in 16 innings, Philadelphia nipped Houston 7-6 and Atlanta blanked Chicago 2-0.

Boswell, who had pitched a one-hitter against Baltimore in his previous start last Saturday, gave up bases-empty homers to Boston's Carl Yastrzemski and Don Demeter but was in control all the way.

The Twins wrapped it up with a four-run burst in the fifth inning, Earl Battey capping the rally with a two-run double.

Stottlemyre scattered two singles and belted a homer as the Yankees beat Dean Chance for the fourth time this season, Stottlemyre, now 10-12, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris each drove in two runs.

Max Alvis' bases-loaded triple and Fred Whitfield's two-run homer led Cleveland past the Orioles, who wasted two homers each by Frank Robinson and Boog Powell and another by Sam Bowens. Robinson's pair boosted his league-leading total to 33.

Pinch hitter Dick Nen rapped a two-run double in the sixth, breaking a 2-2 tie and propelling the Senators past the Athletics. Frank Howard delivered the other two Washington runs with a third-inning single.

A two-run homer by pinch hitter Jim Northrup climaxed Detroit's winning three-run rally in the ninth inning of the first game and decided a pitching duel between winner Mickey Lolich and the White Sox' Bruce Howard. Ken Barry's homer in the top of the ninth had given Chicago a 1-0 edge.

John Romano triggered a five-run outburst in the eighth inning of the nightcap with a two-run homer as the Sox thrashed a 3-1 Detroit lead.

Albuquerque Knocks Off Travelers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Albuquerque held off two late rallies by Arkansas and scored a 4-2 Texas League baseball victory here Wednesday night.

League — leading Arkansas maintained its 4-game margin over second-place Amarillo, however, as Austin whipped the Sonics 10-6. In the other league games, El Paso beat Dallas-Fort Worth 5-3.

Amarillo took a 2-0 edge in the current series and stretched its winning streak over the Travelers to six games.

The Dodgers opened their scoring with a second-inning double by rightfielder Ken Williams and a homer by centerfielder Jim Fahey.

Albuquerque added two runs in the third when Willie Crawford doubled to left, moved to third on a groundout and scored when pitcher Brian Sinnott lost control of the ball during a pickoff attempt to first base.

Sinnott whirled to attempt to throw out Mel Corbo, who had walked. No one was covering first base, though, and the ball dribbled from Sinnott's error when he tried to halt this throw.

Arkansas' Billy Wolff homered in the sixth inning, with Bobby Dews scoring in front of him.

Ground Game for Pros in the All-Star

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — With six exceptional runners ready as shock troops, the College All-Stars seem to be preparing for an infantry attack against the Green Bay Packers Friday night.

But not even the pros have been very successful on the ground against the Packers, the National Football League champions, and the running strength of the All-Stars may prove to be just a diversionary attempt.

Short passes by Alabama's Steve Sloan, Missouri's Gary Lane and Tulsa's Bill Anderson, the nation's leading aerialist last season, may provide the main tonic for the upset wanted by head Coach John Sauer.

And, too, anything past mid-field seems to be field goal range for side-foot kicker Charles Gogolak of Princeton. His boots could make a difference, just like the two field goals by Bob Jencks that nudged the collegians to their last victory in the series—20-17 over the Packers in 1963.

The football classic in Soldier Field will be televised by ABC starting at 10 p.m., EDT, and the expected arena crowd is 65,000. The pros hold a 21-9-1 edge in the rivalry. The Packers rule a 13-15 point favorite.

Donny Anderson of Texas Tech and Jim Grabowski of Illinois, who have been signed by the Packers for a total reported to be more than $900,000, are among the All-Stars' big guns.

Others are Roy Shivers of Utah State, Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State, Heisman Trophy winner Mike Garrett of South California and Johnny Roland of Missouri.

The Packers arrive Thursday and will have a night limbering up drill in Soldier Field.

Cheese Consumers
A survey indicates that Californians are the greatest consumers of cottage cheese. They consume about seven pounds a year per person, which is 50 per cent more than the U.S. average.

Wake Village and Okay Are Winners Here

In the first game Wednesday night, Wake Village of Texarkana defeated Collins & Williams of Texarkana by a score of 4 to 2, in Little League district play at Legion Field.

Current was the winning pitcher and Phillips the loser. Collins & Williams collected three hits and Wake Village eight. Hampson had two hits for Wake Village.

In the second and final game of the night, Okay pulled another upset by defeating Carpenter's Union by a score of 13-3. Delaney was the winning pitcher giving up only 1 hit and pitching a perfect game for 4 innings. Walker was the losing pitcher. Okay collected 11 hits for the night, Delaney, the pitcher, went 4 for 4.

Play resumes tonight at 6:30.

Amendment Defeat Will Kill Bill

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed open housing law that has deeply divided both Democrats and Republicans in Congress comes up for action today in the House.

The controversial section of the civil rights bill was to be called up for amendment in midafternoon. No votes were expected before late in the day. Supporters pinned their hopes on an amendment aimed at nailing down a broad exemption written into the provision by the House Judiciary Committee.

The exemption removes most individually owned homes from the proposed ban on racial discrimination. Adoption of the amendment, which would leave large apartments and newly built housing developments as the main types of housing to be covered, is considered vital if the section is to stay in the bill.

An unlikely coalition of Southerners and conservative Republicans opposed to any housing provisions, and Northern liberals who want a tougher one, have lined up in opposition to the amendment.

The strategy of the opponents of any measure is to block all efforts to weaken it in hopes of frightening away support when a roll-call vote comes on final passage, probably Thursday.

The House moved into position to tackle the proposal with a

Boxer, But He Hates Boxing

By GRANVILLE WATTS

LONDON (AP) — The odd thing about Brian London, the massive-chinned Briton who fights Cassius Clay Saturday is that he hates boxing.

London, a 32-year-old veteran, freely admits that he's in the game strictly for the cash.

In 11 years as a professional boxer he has earned $350,000 and lives comfortably in a luxurious house near Blackpool. The Clay fight will fatten his bank balance by a minimum of $112,000.

"Fighting is a lousy business, but the pay is good," London says.

London is shorter than Clay, but almost as heavy and is built like a tank.

He is confident he can beat Clay adopting a Rocky Marciano style of infighting.

"I'm just going to get in there and have a thump," London told a newsman.

"I seem to have better fights against people who are not punchers and it does not appear that Clay can punch."

"Someone is going to beat him one day and it might as well be me."

"My best bet will be to close in and fight in Marciano style, crowding my man all the way."

London was born into a boxing family. His father, Jack, formerly was British heavyweight champion.

But at school, Brian preferred football and cross-country running to boxing. When his father finally coaxed him into the ring, Brian's first thought was to get it over quickly and get out.

London made his pro debut in 1955 by stopping a Briton called Dennis Lockton in the first round. In his next 10 fights, London chalked up nine wins inside the distance.

His string of victories ended, however, when he was stopped by European heavyweight champion Henry Cooper in the first round. In two later fights Cooper, stopped by Clay in the sixth round of their title fight here May 21, twice again beat London.

One of London's best wins was over former world light-heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano in 1958. The fight was stopped in the fifth with Pastrano suffering a badly cut left eye.

The same year London won the British and Empire heavyweight titles, knocking out Joe Erskine of Wales in the eighth round.

London clashed with the British Boxing Board of Control in 1959 when it refused him permission to go to the United States and fight the then world champion, Floyd Patterson.

London went anyway and got knocked out in the 11th round of their encounter at Indianapolis.

Back home the boxing authority fined London $2,800 and suspended him for six months. The next year he was in trouble again.

London was boxing his way to victory over Welshman Dick Richardson at Porthcawl, Wales, when an eye was cut.

Forced to retire, London was so angry he stormed across the ring and a brawl broke out. Suddenly the ring was full of swinging fists and falling bodies.

Brian's father was one of those laid out.

After another inquiry London was put on the shelf for three months.

A veteran of 47 fights (35-12) London now is going for the big one.

Acreage of Cotton Cut for State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas' 1967 cotton allotment was set Wednesday at 1,330,720 acres by the Agriculture Department—a decrease of 975 acres from the 1966 allotment.

The national allotment was the same as this year's, 16 million acres.

In addition to the national allotment, the department set a national reserve of 200,000 acres for the establishment of minimum farm allotments as provided by law.

Although 1966's allotment totaled 16 million acres, slightly less than 11 million acres were planted. The department offered growers substantial government payments for underplanting their allotments. The purpose was to hold down production to help reduce a record large cotton surplus.

Farm law permits the operation of a similar payment program next year, but the department did not outline such a program Wednesday. Details are expected to come later.

Baltimore Stops 'Skins' by 35 to 0

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer Tom Matte was all but forced into retirement as a professional quarterback Wednesday night and John Brodie emerged from his self-imposed layoff, leaving the Baltimore Colts and San Francisco 49ers looking forward hopefully to the National Football League season.

Matte, a halfback, forced into the signal-calling spot late last season when injuries sidelined first Johnny Unitas and then Gary Guozzo, was on the sidelines Wednesday night as Unitas and Guozzo returned to action.

The pair ruined the pro coaching debut of Otto Graham as they led the Colts to a crushing 35-0 exhibition victory over Washington before a sellout 45,805 that included President Johnson.

Unitas, showing no ill effects from a knee injury suffered last season, threw for two touchdowns and set up another score with his tosses.

Then Guozzo took over and threw 34 yards to Willie Richardson for another score as the Colts built a 35-0 halftime lead.

The defense completely stopped a trimmed-down Sonny Jurgensen and Dick Siner of the Redskins.

Brodie was the man of the hour for the 49ers when he ended a two-week holdout and signed a contract reportedly for $750,000 for four years.

The 10-year NFL veteran, who led the league last year in most passing departments, was reported in May ready to jump to the American Football League for $750,000 before the merger of the two leagues killed the deal.

In the AFL, veteran tackle Eldon Danenhauer of Denver suffered a broken arm after re-injury from retirement and will be out indefinitely, and guard John Nisby will be lost to the Oakland Raiders because of a torn cord in his right heel.

The New York Jets released flanker Jim Evans while the Cleveland Browns dropped halfback Jamie Caleb.

The Atlanta Falcons cut loose veterans Ken Kirk, a center, and John Kontoulis, a tackle, and rookies Martin Kahn, a tackle, and guard Kent Francis.

The Falcons claimed on waivers guard Mike Tabor from Los Angeles and defensive back Sam Montgomery from Green Bay.

Shula has experimented with Dan Sullivan and Dale Memmelar at guards. However, an injury to Memmelar brought Tim Parker back to his old guard position after a try at right tackle.

The veteran Raymond Berry at split end, John Mackey at tight end and Jimmy Orr at flanker are the top receivers.

Shula expects to alternate Lenny Moore and Matte at the halfback slot more than he did last year. Jerry Hill and Tony Lorick will split the work at fullback.

The Colts are proud of their defense which allowed only 284 points.

Andy Stynchula from the New York Giants and Roy Hilton of Jackson State back up the front four of Lou Michaels and Ordell Braase at the ends and Fred Miller and Billy Ray Smith at tackles.

Mike Curtis was converted from fullback to linebacker and is giving the veteran Don Shinnick a scrap for the right side job. Denny Gaubatz in the middle and Steve Stonebreaker on the left are the other regulars.

Bobby Boyd and Lenny Lyons probably will nian the corners again, with Jerry Logan at strong safety and Alvin Raymond, the kick return artist, at free safety.

Since Tom Gilburg, the regular punter, was traded the kicking job is up for grabs. Best bet seems to be Jim Hollingsworth of Louisiana College.

San Francisco Bay covers 450 square miles, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Bob Veale Hurls Pitt Over Dodgers

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer Bob Veale has a pain in the back. And he's giving the Dodgers one in the neck.

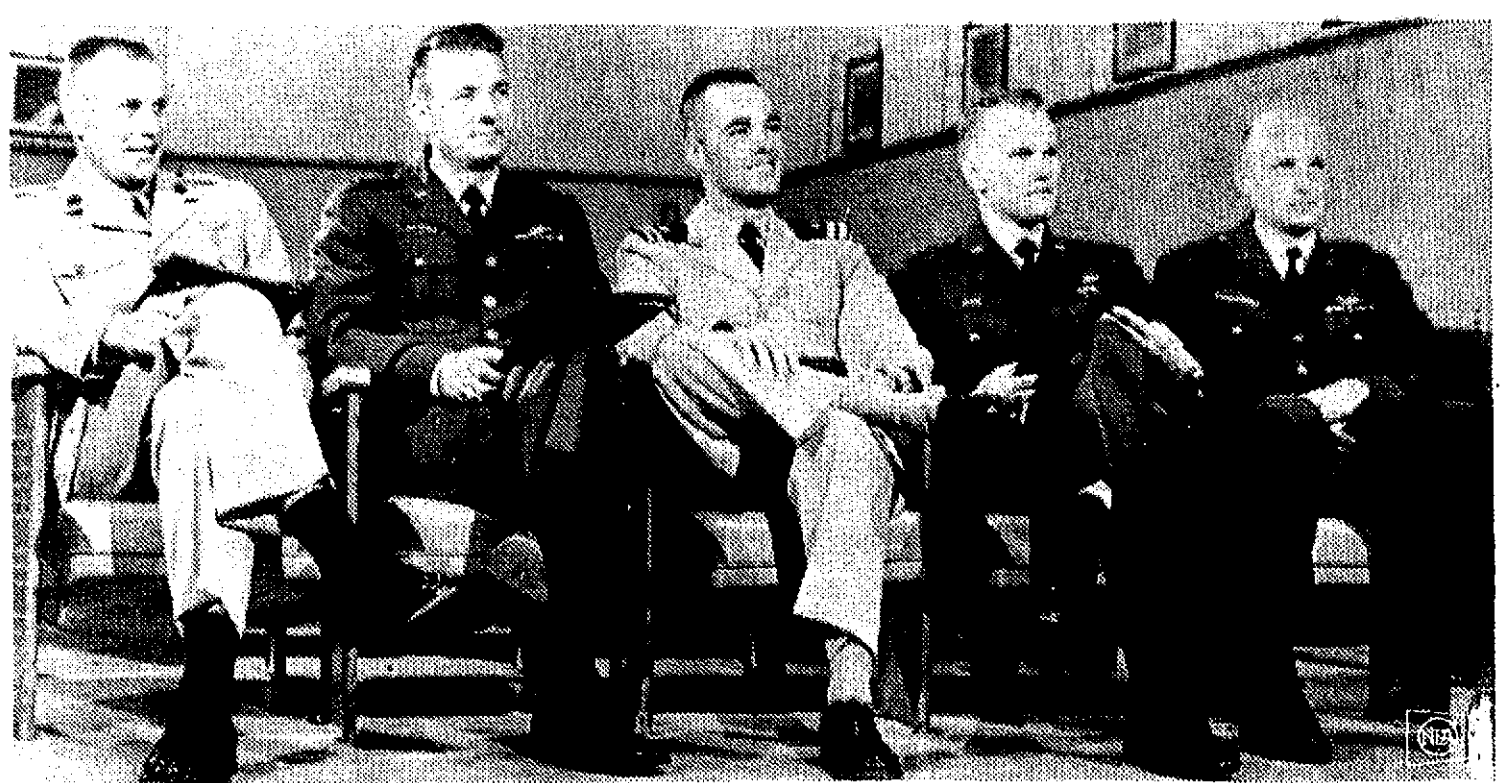

Los Angeles has faced the big Pirate pitcher twice this season and has collected a grand total of one unearned run, 12 hits and two walks off him. In beating the Dodgers 3-1 Wednesday night, Veale struck out 11, just as he did when he beat them back in May.

It was Veale's first game in more than two weeks and

CHURCH SPECTACULAR

A pine-fringed hill near Palmyra in New York's Finger Lakes region is the site of an annual religious observance that in the 29 years since it began has become one of the world's most spectacular pageants. Thousands each year gather at the hill, called Cumorah, to see the story of Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) re-created. Twenty-five stages were erected on the hillside and a cast of 430 assembled for this year's pageant, July 26-30.

Spectacular scenes depict the fall of a civilization, Zarahemla, which Mormons believe existed in America before Christ but was destroyed when its people drifted from the teachings of the Lord. Here, a victim is offered up in the human sacrifice scene.

A fanfare of trumpets opens the Hill Cumorah Pageant. The heralds are stationed on the hill where, according to Mormon belief, Joseph Smith, founder of the church, in 1823 discovered golden tablets buried by the Angel Moroni and recounting the history of the lost civilization.

City Dwellers Stretch Plot

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Whether it's in a tract or development community or in the middle of a metropolis, that little piece of land gets smaller and smaller.

This may be the reason so many families have turned home gardeners. Few are that far away from some experience with "the farm." However, current outdoor living for the growing number of urban-suburbanites takes on a big-city sophistication.

A very valued 30 by 30-foot chunk of land in a city can turn into a green oasis with very little dirt (except what falls from the sky).

Suburbanites who still face the nightmare of creeping crabgrass can take some tips from ingenious city gardeners who either paint the patio-terrace area green or cover it with a grassy-green synthetic floor covering that gives the texture and cushy feeling of grass with few of the care problems.

The desire for greenery and flowers is solved by making a garden bed or border with clay pots filled with a decorative variety of flowers.

Suggested by nurserymen for color and hardiness for city living are geraniums, azaleas, petunias and mums. Arrange these according to complementary colors and plant height for a truly landscaped effect.

To raise smaller plants, set their pots on inverted clay saucers. Place these along the sides of a walk or small pool and the pied-a-terre takes on a brighter aspect. The clay-potters have found that bursts of colorful flowers are best when planted in large-size containers.

Groupings of larger flowers can go indoors to be a table centerpiece and then return to the outdoors. This mobility fits the city dwellers' moods and also can be used by the suburban homemaker who likes fresh flowers in the house but hates to see them fade away.

More furniture, too, is selected for the city oasis for both outdoor-indoor use. Lightweight furniture with the look but not the heft of wrought iron is thoroughly at home, since it is weather and rust-resistant and comfortable with latex foam rubber cushioning.

For outdoors the cushions are covered with a water-repellent sailcloth. If a homemaker wants to change the set's appearance when used indoors, she can whip up cushion covers in one of the '30s inspired prints.

The ultimate secret of the city dweller is making a little seem like a lot. And this certainly should prove inviting to a busy suburban home-maker.

Her Beauty Lights Night —With Assist

To enhance a lady's beauty, designers seem to feel there's nothing like battery-operated accessories.

Dozens of 14-karat gold charms that light up from tiny batteries are available, for instance. They range from a miniature Statue of Liberty to a poodle and a satellite.

A hairstylist has created a "Festive Flair" hairdo which has tiny bulbs wired to equally small batteries hidden in an upswept coiffure.

OUTDOOR LIFE IN THE CITY turns to instant success with a touch of ingenuity. Most of the grass here is fake, an instant lawn of synthetic carpeting called Sassy-grass. Plants kept in clay pots make an instant garden indoors or out. For comfort there is an unusual hooded chaise, light in weight and cushioned in latex foam rubber for comfort. The furniture by Molla may be used indoors to brighten a city sun room or sewing room in winter.

Color Is Keynote in New Fall Shirts

By BOB COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

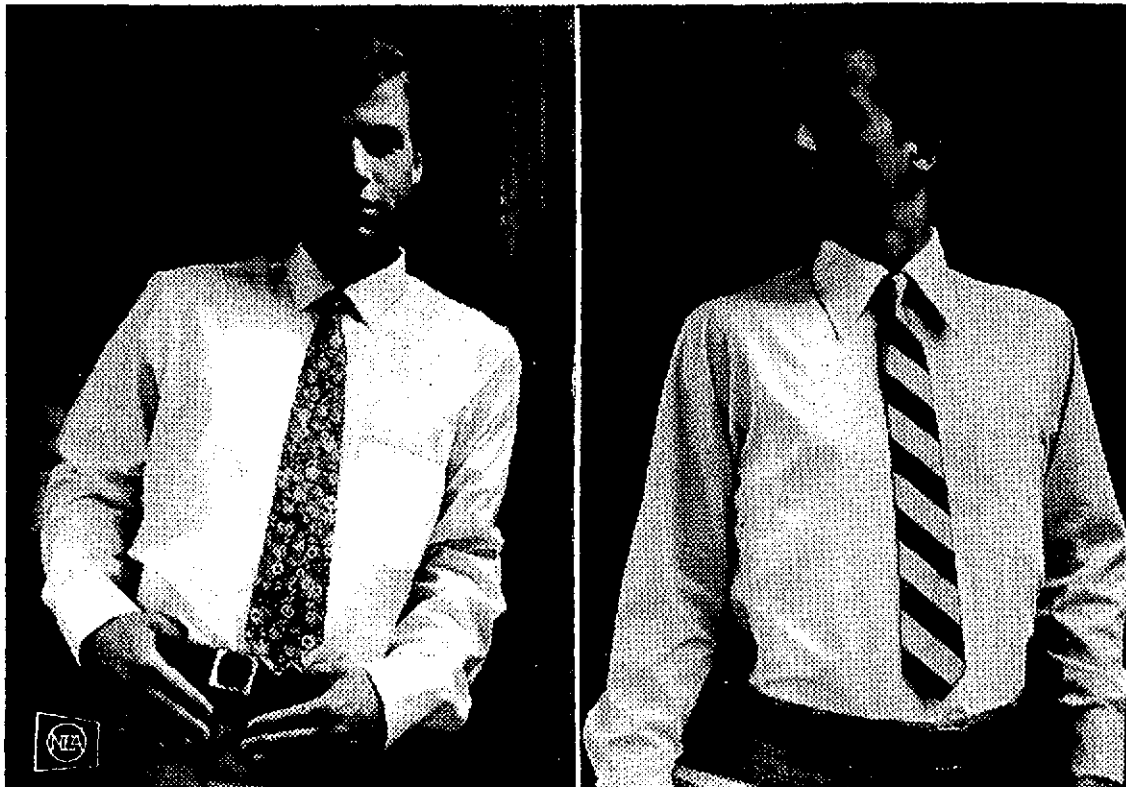

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Until recently the shirt, noble garment that it is, has never scored high marks in the fashion department. It was just something to wear behind a tie and under a jacket.

On the campus, that wasteland of sartorial imagination, shirts were O.K. as long as they were oxford cloth with long-pointed, button-down collars, locker loops and box pleats.

Elsewhere, white shirts were safe and could be worn anywhere, thus avoiding snide comments from the white-shirt-after-dark crowd.

But the country's shirt manufacturers have made shirts something to think about this fall by offering, finally, an amazing variety of colors and stripings. Now men will have to think twice before declaring white is always right. Ditto the button-down campus types.

The Manhattan Shirt Co., for example, is now producing 12 solid-color shirts ranging from dyed lemon, moss green, pink tea and vanilla ice cream to apricot, sun tan and blue grass. It's doubtful that any man will be asking for a happy for a sullen country. nilla cream shirt but it is available nevertheless. But now they're back.

Old-timers will recall that during the flashy '20s stripes were very popular. During the Depression they were too wide and variable-spaced striping on colored grounds are particularly interesting. One maker (Lion of Troy) even offers multicolored stripings in varied widths. And the oxford cloth shirt finally has a number of handsome rivals. Basketweaves, batiques, cotton herringbones and unusual broadcloths are just a few among the many different patterns and weaves available.

The Mod influence will also be seen in shirts this fall. All of the major shirt makers have grabbed Mod but have interpreted the basic look in different ways. All of the lines carry variations on contrasting body and collar and cuff treatments. All have strong color ideas ranging from bold granny prints to solids. And all show a lot of French cuffs.

French cuffs, incidentally, will be particularly evident this fall and, consequently, cuff links will offer the wearer another chance for individuality. Those little details separate the well-dressed man from the rest of the herd.

A word about collars. The button-downs will probably remain the country's largest-selling collar style, but more and more men are realizing that the so-called tabless tab and wide-spread collars are a lot more dressier and perfectly complement a dark, vested suit.

Madison Avenue and the campus have long indoctrinated generations of impressionable collegians to believing that the button-down collar is the mark of the sophisticated, with-it young executive. Individualists, however, take exception and are willing to experiment.

Most men, especially travelers, will be glad to know that many of the new shirtings are available in permanent press — which means no ironing needed. The shirt is wearable right out of the washing machine.

The day of the narrow tie is about over, it seems. The "right" width is now about four inches and five-inch ties have been spotted on a number of fashion-conscious men.

As for design, the wilder the better, as long as it works with the suit and shirt. Mod-inspired granny ties will be popular this fall as well as Indian prints, large patterned foulards and polka dots.

A 'Moderate Marshmallow'

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Suzanne Pleshette is—don't let this get around—a moderate marshmallow. They're not making too many moderate marshmallows these days.

Her moderateness shows itself when she talks about her career. The man in the street would think her career is doing very well. She's in the just-released "Nevada Smith," and she has three unreleased pictures shot, "Mr. Buddwing," "Bullwhip Griffin" and "The Cloudbusters."

"I'm not really satisfied with the state of my career," Suzanne says. "But I don't know what to do about it. The only thing I know to do is to keep working and do the best I can all the time."

"I know there are some actors who believe in waiting around for THE PART. The only trouble with that is, by the time THE PART gets here, the producer won't think about using those actors. He'll use people he's seen working."

Suzanne thinks that perhaps a little scandal would have helped her career.

"But," she says, "I'm a moderate. I'm just not the scandal type. Besides, I don't think that careers based on scandal go very far or last very long."

Perhaps, too, she should have fought for certain parts at certain times. "I can't fight," she says. "I'm a marshmallow. I'm not tough enough to fight like that."

With it all, Suzanne Pleshette is a very happy girl. She admits it with a very happy smile, and that's a room-brightener if there ever was one.

"It's corny," she says, "but it's true. I wake up every morning happy. I wake up and I think that every day is a joy. Even the sunshine makes me happy. I get pleasure out of little things—like if I learn a new word, that makes me happy."

She happily manages to keep her public and private lives separate. She says it isn't as hard as some people think. She says she has a lot of private friends and private dates and leads a very happy and very normal private life.

She is a big television fan and is addicted to Peyton Place. The demands of her public life—working, attending various functions—sometimes make her miss Peyton Place, which others might think is a fate worse than life.

"We—my beau, Tommy Gallagher—and I," she says, "used to call up Tommy's mother in Texas and ask her what happened. But she died not too long ago and now I guess we'll have to find a new source of information."

When Tommy's mother passed away, Suzanne urged him to go to Texas and tackle the unpleasant task of cleaning out her apartment and disposing of her possessions. She says he did so reluctantly, but came back with a lot of old family pictures.

"There was one picture," Suzanne says, "of his mother when she was young. And she was built just like me—legs, hips, everything. I told him, 'See, it's that mother thing again.'"

And that's how it goes with a moderate marshmallow.

Press Under Fire

In many states, including Louisiana, there have been attempts by vindictive legislatures or governors to muzzle the press. Huey Long tried it when he was governor, with the aid of friendly — or intimidated — lawmakers. A law was enacted imposing excessive taxes on newspapers of a certain size and circulation. The law represented a bold attempt by Long to either control the press or at least silence his critics. He failed because the Supreme Court declared the law unconstitutional. More recent press-muzzling attempts occurred in Alabama and Kentucky. In Alabama, a state law prohibited a newspaper to editorialize about election issues on election day. The Birmingham Post-Herald challenged the law with a crusading call for municipal reform in its election-day issue. In the state test, the Alabama Supreme Court declared the law was reasonable and represented no abridgement of press freedoms. The Supreme Court unanimously agreed that the law was unconstitutional and flagrantly so. The nine justices saw nothing reasonable about the law at all.

In Kentucky, the House of Representatives passed a bill requiring editorial identification. The Senate fortunately rejected it. So, another attempt at destroying the stature of a paper's voice died aborning.

On this particular bill, the Wade magazine, Editor and Publisher, commented: "Such a requirement would destroy the editorial page as the voice of the newspaper and turn it into a collection of individual opinions. We don't think there is any more justification for this legislation than there is for a law requiring a politician to reveal who writes his speech. A newspaper editor or publisher stands behind the editorial page regardless of who put them into words just as the politician will stand behind the thoughts he utters regardless of who put them on paper for him to read."

Imagine the President prefacing his speeches with announcements: "This speech was prepared by Bill Moyers, amended by McGeorge Bundy with suggestions by Lady Bird. Final approval of text — Lyndon Baines Johnson." Silly and unnecessary. What is important is what was and is said in speeches and editorials, not necessarily who wrote them. — Monroe (La.) ## Will Check Sniper for Drug Clues

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An autopsy report today is expected to show whether Charles J. Whitman was under the influence of drugs when he killed 15 persons and wounded 31 others before police bullets cut him down.

Justice of the Peace Jerry Dellana said he had instructed pathologists making the autopsy to search for dextroamphetamine — goof balls — were found in Whitman's clothing after he was shot by Austin police Monday, on the 28th-floor observation tower of the University of Texas main building.

From his lofty sniper's nest, Whitman, 25, killed 13 persons with a murderous spray of rifle fire. Earlier he had shot and stabbed his mother to death and fatally knifed his young wife, Kathy, as she slept in their bed, police said.

Dellana said Whitman's appearance after the shooting made imperative the autopsy search for possible drug-influenced behavior.

Gov. John B. Connally, hunting for a deterrent to "heinous crimes," moved forward in his quest for laws that might prevent such slaughter as Whitman perpetrated here Monday.

Whitman's body, along with that of his mother, was flown Wednesday night to Lake Worth, Fla., their home town, where Roman Catholic funeral services were to be held Friday.

News Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Agricultural Committee gave its approval Wednesday to funds for three watershed projects in Arkansas: Caney Bayou, $499,076, North Fork of Ozan Creek $1,046,876 and White River Backwater $1,685,160.

Under law, federal funds are available for the projects if both House and Senate agriculture committee approve them. The House group has not yet acted on the projects.

Both Parties Back Airline Strike Bill

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Democratic and Republican leaders joined today in backing a compromise plan that would have Congress send striking airline mechanics back to work for a month, and empower President Johnson to keep them there for five more.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said they will be among the sponsors of that proposal.

Mansfield said he hopes the Senate will decide before the day is out what Congress should do about the four-week airline walkout.

A major alternative awaiting a Senate decision is legislation that would leave to Johnson the task of forcing an end to the strike.

There was talk also of foregoing any kind of legislation to end the strike.

"There are some people who don't want any legislation but I don't think they'll drag it on," Mansfield said as the Senate opened its third day of debate on strike measures.

The compromise proposal would divide strike-stopping responsibility between Congress and the President in these three steps:

1. Congress would order the strikers back to their jobs for 30 days.

2. The President could appoint special airlines dispute panel to serve as mediators in contract bargaining. This action would freeze the situation and keep the men on their jobs for another 60 days.

3. If an agreement is not worked out in that period, the President could extend the panel's efforts and the back-to-work freeze for another 90 days.

"This is a proposal that seems to have the greatest amount of support," said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who helped turn it out Wednesday in a hectic series of cloakroom conferences and later described the compromise to newsmen.

The Senate was to meet earlier than usual, in an effort to act before the day is out.

"It will be the duty of the members to labor with this matter until we complete it," said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

But Sen. Wayne More, D-Ore., indicated there may be alterations in the compromise plan, advanced as an alternative to legislation which would leave to Johnson any strike-ending decision.

Steel Hike Too Hasty Says Govt.

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House labeled as "irresponsible" today the moves of price-boosting steel producers, complaining they acted without talking over the situation with the government beforehand.

A statement was put out at the White House in the name of Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers.

In response to a question, press secretary Bill D. Moyers said it would be fair to assume that Johnson discussed the matter with Ackley before the statement was issued.

A short time earlier, U.S. Steel, the giant of the industry, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. had joined the parade of other firms which have announced price increases since Tuesday.

Ackley's statement did not flatly put an inflationary tag on the announced price increases. Moyers, when asked if the administration did deem it inflationary, insisted that Ackley is "very concerned about the impact of these increases on the economy and on the goods that utilize steel."

Ackley said that immediately after Inland Steel announced on Tuesday its plans to raise prices, he wired each of the other 12 largest steel companies to "urgently request that your company take no action prior to discussion with the government."

The economist said the first four firms to follow Inland's lead acted "without the prior discussion which I requested." "In my view, the action of these companies can only be characterized as irresponsible. They were unwilling even to hear the government state the public interest in this matter," he said.

Inland's action was followed Wednesday by Jones & Laughlin and Armco. Then Pittsburgh Steel Co. and National Steel Corp. acted earlier today.

Steel Firms Hike Price, United Front

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Steel, giant of the industry and usually its bellwether, joined today in raising prices, but the Johnson administration still stuck to official silence on the moves.

"Big Steel" was the third producer of the day to go along with price changes initiated Monday by Inland Steel Co. Jones & Laughlin and Armco came in Wednesday, and Pittsburgh Steel Co. and National Steel Corp. acted today ahead of U.S. Steel.

All the increases were essentially the same $3 for prime grade hot and cold rolled sheet and strip and $2 for secondary grades of the same products.

All the White House had to say up to the time of the increases today was that it still opposes any inflationary price rises. It would not say what — if anything — it might do about a rollback effort.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers was known to have sent out messages to producers after Inland started the parade and a Pittsburgh Steel Co. spokesman confirmed that the firm got one of the messages.

Another of them was known to have gone to U.S. Steel.

The Pittsburgh spokesman would not disclose the contents of the communications, but they were reported to have asked that the price line be held until the council could complete a study on whether the increases would add too heavily to inflation pressures.

Leslie B. Worthington, U.S. Steel president, said in announcing the "Big Steel" decision that he felt the increases "will not have a significant impact on the users of steel."

Anderson Praised for Service

Roy Anderson, who resigned from the board of governors of Hempstead County Memorial Hospital just before the expiration of his term June 30, has received the following letter from the board:

Dear Mr. Roy: Never have I found my limited vocabulary so inadequate. The Board of Governors voted unanimously that your resignation be accepted and that I write you a letter expressing our regret in losing you and your valuable experience and counsel from our hospital board.

Personally, let me say that I appreciate every effort and gesture you have made toward making Hempstead Memorial the success it is today. You played a leading part from its inception, through the planning stage, the construction and the completion of the building. Then, when the chips were down, when it took more than duty called for, you and others put your names on the dotted line in order to assure funds to even begin operation. Then throughout the years you have always been there with your experience, counsel and advice. Each member of our board is aware of all of this and want you to know that it is appreciated. We know that you will always be willing to give us advice when we call on you. Sincerely yours, MONROE SAMUEL, Chairman, Board of Governors of the Hempstead County Memorial Hospital

Only Way to Avoid Slavery Is Not to Own Anything: Hal

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato:

The only sure way to avoid slavery in a civilized world is to avoid owning things.

The less a man owns the freer he can live.

Modern man has been oversold on the prestige of ownership and the supposed security it brings, and there are signs he is in rebellion against it.

It can be argued that the only things worth owning today, aside from personal clothing and a few souvenirs, are a good credit rating and your own soul. Ownership of anything else puts you in bondage, sometimes for life.

The pleasures of owning things are far outweighed by the pleasures of not owning things.

Man is divided into two types — the owner and the renter. Show me an owner and I'll show you a fearful, burdened man. Show me a renter, and I'll show you a liberated man.

The man who thinks he owns things is kidding himself. They own him. He is their slave.

If a man owns a home, that is where he must live, no matter how he may come to hate his neighbors. He fights crabgrass and termites, worries about the vagaries of hurricanes and tax assessors. Everything is a possible threat to the value of his property.

He owns the phonograph records and paintings in his own home, those are the ones he must listen to or look at, though in time they may bore him utterly.

If he owns his car, that is the kind of car he must drive until he can afford a new one. He must insure it, paint it, buy it a license, protect its fenders from scratches and keep it in repair. It is as much trouble as having a child — except that he doesn't have to fret about sending it through college.

Now let us consider the happy renter.

If the neighborhood he lives in runs down, he can pack up and move away. As a matter of fact, he can wreck the neighborhood himself, if he feels like it, and then move away.

Every weekend he can rent a different model car, and if it breaks down he can pocket the key, go back to the agency and rent another. Upkeep problems don't annoy him.

Does his wife want to stun the other guests at a fancy dress ball? Well, what if she doesn't own a diamond necklace? He can rent one for the evening, and if thieves steal it, what does he care? It doesn't belong to him. He's not out of pocket.

Yep, the more you analyze the so-called joys of ownership the more you realize they may be large spurious.

Looking for Stars on a Tour

TELEVISION STAR SMITH is unrecognized in group of tourists about to check out Lana Turner's dressing room.

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The theory was that tourists taking the Universal Studios tour which has earned the film factory the title Disney-land of the Movie Studios would be looking so hard to find actors wandering around the lot that they wouldn't notice one in their midst.

They were and they didn't. William Smith, who plays

Texas Ranger Joe Riley in NBC-TV's Laredo (returning for its second season in a new time slot, Fridays at 10, EDT), agreed to test the tourists' powers of observation.

He might have been recognized as we were standing in line with a gaggle of tourists waiting to board one of the trams which are bringing smiles to the faces of Universal's treasurers and frowns to several actors who feel the tours interfere with the main order of business. A small boy, about 10, standing in front of Bill kept staring at the tall, handsome actor. He seemed to recognize him, but apparently the whole studio was unreal to the youngster, something he was seeing on a very large television screen, and so was Bill. Even when, an hour later, a teen-aged girl finally spotted Bill and got his autograph, the boy just stared.

JOAN CROSBY and Bill Smith of television's Laredo cross a prop bridge at Universal Studios.

The tour begins high on a hill overlooking the studios and leads past the make-up department which the tour guide says is a "beehive of activity at 5 a.m."

"Would you believe 6?" Bill asks.

Later in the tour, the guide remarks that actors have to learn a lot of lines and so must be "rather intelligent."

"I'm not sure I like that 'rather,'" said Bill, whose intelligence needs no qualification. He translates Russian historical novels into English for relaxation.

After walking through Lana Turner's dressing room, a cottage so luxurious it makes the average Beverly Hills home look like a slum, Bill asked, "Do you believe this dressing room? I would never leave the studio if I had one like this."

The tram drove past areas where old props are stored. "We never throw anything away," the guide said. "And they can never find any of it again," Bill said.

Midway in the tour, the tram stops at "Prop Plaza," where tourists can take photographs of relatives hoisting gigantic rocks over their heads—the rocks are made of a nearly weightless material—or scampering around the old PT 73 of McHale's Navy. (Perhaps that's the first sign a show is going off, when a prop becomes a tourist's plaything.)

They can also buy souvenirs and snacks, and it was while waiting to buy a cup of coffee that a young girl came to Bill and said, "Aren't you on Laredo?"

The tour costs $3 a person and is certainly a comprehensive look behind the scenes of a studio which turns out movies and television series like Laredo, The Virginian, Bob Hope Presents The Chrysler Theater, Run For Your Life as well as new series like The Road West, Pistols and Petticoats and The Jean Arthur Show.

With between 25,000 and 35,000 visitors a week, the studio is more than meeting expenses just from the admission charge. But the average tourist spends $10. Bob Hope once said, "They don't care what we're doing at the studio, just as long as we're busy when the tour tram comes by."

James Drury of The Virginian is outspoken in his dislike of the tours. "I have written a strong letter to the studio telling them not to have the tours come by the set when I am working." So has Ben Gazzara.

Charles Bickford, who will be a regular in The Virginian next season, is one of the actors who has a dressing room in the area where the tourists leave the tram to walk through Lana Turner's dressing room and a sound stage with five representative sets.

"If I leave my dressing room door partly open, or come out as the tour goes by, they all think I'm one of the props," Bickford said.

Gen. Sherman buried at Atlanta, Ga., on Nov. 14, 1864.

Pineapple Key to Samoan Nog

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here's a combination of tropical fruits, served in tall glasses, for the August porch or patio party. It's equally delicious on a fire escape if that's the coolest spot available.

The second recipe, Cranberry Pineapple Zing, has a Cape Cod as well as a tropical ingredient.

PINEAPPLE SAMOAN NOG

- 1 (8½-oz.) can crushed pineapple
- 2 small bananas
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 (1-pt., 2-oz.) can pineapple juice

Start with chilled ingredients. Turn undrained crushed pineapple, peeled bananas, salt and half of pineapple juice into electric blender. Whirl at high speed until blended. Add remaining pineapple juice and whirl a second longer. Pour into serving glasses. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

CRANBERRY PINEAPPLE ZING

- 1 qt. cranberry juice cocktail
- 1 can (12-oz.) unsweetened pineapple juice
- Sugar to taste

TROPICAL FRUIT DRINKS are August patio favorites.

Pour 2 cups of cranberry juice into ice cube tray. Freeze until solid. Combine remaining cranberry juice and pineapple juice. Sweeten to taste with sugar. Place cranberry juice ice cubes in glasses and fill with cranberry-pineapple juice mixture. Garnish with mint sprigs. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

- PEAR SPICE CAKE
3 to 4 fresh Bartlett pears
2 cups all-purpose flour, unsifted
2 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup water
2 eggs
1 cup dates, chopped
1/4 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Pare, halve, core and dice enough pears to make 2 cups. Save remaining pears for topping. Combine in mixing bowl flour, sugar, baking powder, soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add shortening, water and diced pears. Beat 2 minutes or until smooth. Add eggs, beat 1 minute more. Stir in dates. Pour into greased and floured 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake in 350 degree oven 45 to 50 minutes. Serve warm or cold. Be sure to save core and stem for making pears. Arrange on top of cake. Sprinkle with brown sugar and lemon juice. Makes 12 servings.

Linen Season Features Synthetics, Easy Styles

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If ever there was a linen season, it is now. Silk is made to look like linen and many of the man-made fabrics are so like linen that you have to use the "thumb wet" test to tell synthetics from real linen.

The dress shown has the round neck, yoke sleeve combination so often preferred by good designers.

The panel front and back slashesize and if you want, you can add 1-inch to each side seam to get just a little more flare. This skirt hangs down fairly straight.

Good facings, neck and cuffs are best, and by all means use a long zipper at the back.

Stitching can be used on panel, and on yoke and slashes if desired; especially if you have been so fast at the points of the panel, and to use a stitch pattern on your stitching face any time.

Look the undergarment in, and use a long zipper at the back.
